This office was recently honored of four prominent officials of the I. C. System: J. R. MacLeod, A. T. M. of Memphis; J. F. Sharkey, Supt. of Water Valley; H. J. Rouck, Traimaster, Grenada, and William R. Bourne, Dist. Service Agent of Clarksdale. Mr. J. L. "Jack" Beven, President of the I. C. System, acompanied them.

dere mr top. i hurd thet ower ole fren mr tom bayly was in getnader last week but he didn cum 2 c us. i gess he wus scart he wud git sum chinches up his britches legs. he fergot we hed moved 2 the rat din.

Huber Ladner, who is going to make it terribly hot for Walker Wood in the race for Secretary of State, if not beat Walker, as is extremely likely, also visted us recently.

Three new candidates, Dink Thomason, Griffis Shaw and Gene Christopher, appear in this issue.

By the way, I got $2.50 from J. S. Vandiver as a subscription recently and that makes me lean slightly from the perpendicular toward Vandiver.

I see that most stationery and other printed matter of the state candidates bear the sacred (?) UNION LABEL, which can be used by only a handful of printers in Jackson, Meridian and Vicksburg. We ignorant country publishers tear the tails from our shirts for certain candidates and do not get even a polite "thank you."

The attention of all concerned is invited to an editorial about military censorship.

Hon. Burl Barnett, so far unopposed in his race for State Auditor, dropped by Wednesday.

Dr. Lake says: "Use powdered sulphur on your cut Irish potatoes and the beetles won't eat the tops."

These kald (phonetic spelling) turf forms of these here winmen soldiers look right cute.

Sam Mims, Jr., seems to be seeing the world from the number of times we have had to change his address. He is now in Greenville, Pa., and I hope this will not be of value to the Axis.

Estes Maxwell made his annual trip to town recently and paid up. He lives near Jack Barn Lake.

Unless some other person announces for county superintendent of education, I believe the candidate crop is all in.

I sorter feel sorry for candidates this year, for nobody pays much attention to them.

The Glider section of the army having been done away with, little Tommie Rose is either here or on his way home.

Mrs. P. E. Smith and family have moved to Grenada from Holcomb.

George Cunningham from the edge of the free state was a recent visitor to Mississippi and while here paid up his dues.

What with a new awning and a new exhaust fan the Roach Den is somewhat less like Hell than last summer.

I think it should be stated, once for all, that there is no army censorship over this, or any other newspaper, thank God. The GOW has bent over backward in exercising a voluntary censorship and could have published a hell of a lot of things about military affairs that we did not publish.

John Haxby is the wisest merchant in town. Handling seed and various agricultural products, he does not know what a "pint" or a ration is. We bought some rationed stuff the other night and it took twice as long to figure out the "pints" as it did to figure out the money value.

As an old soldier I cannot get over having WAACs, or wimmen soldiers, in the army. It looks like there should be enough men to win the war.

If you have any sympathy left in your heart, save it for the stork who is booked up solid for at least nine nine months. Never have I seen prospects for such a crop of babies.

The new benches donated by City Lumber Co., certainly add to the comfort of the soldiers and to the attractiveness of the otherwise drab and forlorn city park.

Had a card from Willard Odom who is taking a course at the FBI in Washington. He says he is learning a lot.

Miss Alma James, of Route 4, has become a member of our happy and contented family and is welcomed.

James Grigsby Weeks Buried Here Last Thursday

Mr. James G. "Uncle Jim" Weeks, 91, died in his home on Main Street early Thursday morning, April 29, 1943, and was buried that afternoon.

He was the son of the late James G. and Hannah Weeks and was born in Sarapta, Calhoun County on February 4, 1852. Seventy-three years ago, he moved to Grenada where he has lived ever since. Being a shrewd businessman and possessing an instinct for frugality, yet by honest dealing earning the respect and esteem of his fellowman, he accumulated a large amount of city and country property, every piece of which he still possessed when he died. He and Miss Rowena K. Davaney, a member of an old Grenada family, were married on February 10, 1880. Mrs. Weeks passed away June 19, 1918.

During the late 80s and the early 90s he served as deputy sheriff under the late Captain Richard N. Hall. He was a member of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Grenada for many years. He was a long time member of the Board of Trustees of the City Schools, his name being on the cornerstone of the school building.

Mr. Weeks will long be known in Grenada for his many "sayings", as many tales, all denoting his shrewdness and hard common sense, are told of him. Some of his capital was earned operating a ferry boat across the Yalobusha River, there being no bridge, other than the railroad bridge, until about 1888. His brother "Legs" Weeks, we are told, ran a ferry in connection with that of his brother.

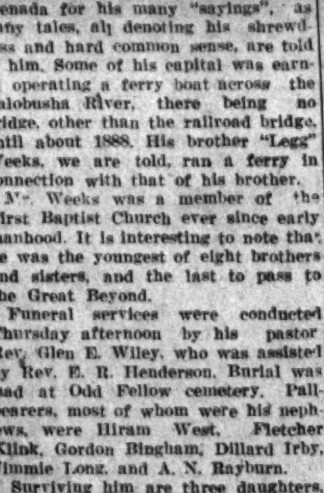
Mr. Weeks was a member of the First Baptist Church ever since early manhood. It is interesting to note that he was the youngest of eight brothers and sisters, and the last to pass to the Great Beyond.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon by his pastor Rev. Glen E. Wiley, who was assisted by Rev. E. R. Henderson. Burial was had at Odd Fellow cemetery. Pallbearers, most of whom were his nephews, were Hiram West, Fletcher Klink, Gordon Bingham, Dillard Irby, Jimmie Long, and A. N. Rayburn.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mesdames J. L. Milner, Birdie Greven, and Kate Betz and several grandchildren, to all of whom we express our sincere sympathy.

Promoted To Technician

News has ben received by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marter that their son,



SELL MARTER

Sell, now in the Southwest Pacific area, has been promoted to Corporal Technician.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goodman, of Indianapolis, were in Grenada from Monday until Wednesday, when Mrs. Goodman left for a speaking tour. Mr. Goodman will probably remain another week. Mrs. Goodman speaks in the interest of the Jewish Welfare Bord, of which organization she is an important officer.

S. A. Weir, Jr. Completes Pre-Flight Training

Naval Aviation Cadet Saxton Augevine Weir, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs S. A. Weir, of Grenada, has successfully completed the intensive 11-weeks course at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight

School at Chapel Hill, N. C. He has been promoted to primary flight training at the Naval Air Station at Peru, Indiana. He made the varsity football team while at Chapel Hill.

While at Grenada High School, Cadet Weir was in the class of 1937.

At the Pre-Flight School his course included physical conditioning, military drill, instruction in the essentials of Naval service and ground school subjects. After three months of primary flying and three additional months of advanced flying, he will be eligible for a commission as an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve, or Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve, and the coveted "Gold Wings" of a Naval Aviator.

Mr. and Mrs. Weir's other son, Bob, is at Annapolis.

First Resident Pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church

With the establishing of Grenada as a Parish, Father Meador becomes its first resident pastor. Born in Baton Rouge, La., moved to Mississippi with his parents at the age of four, was reared in the Historical city of Natchez. He made his preparatory studies for the priesthood at St. Benedict, La. then completed his higher courses at Notre Dame Seminary, New Orleans, La. After serving as assistant pastor at the Natchez Cathedral for nearly a year, he was assigned February 10, 1935 as pastor of Sulphur Springs, where he remained until his appointment to Grenada—serving a large mission district and winning the love of his people and respect and esteem of all he came in contact.

Father Meador is a progressive religious and civic leader and is never too busy to lend a helping hand for the good and betterment of the community in which he lives. He not only built two beautiful little churches in Kosciusko and St. Ann, near Carthage, but carried to successful completion many other constructive programs.

As chtairman of the Red Cross War Fund drive for 1942, in the Camden Rural district he was highly commended for his splendid work and had been slated for chairmanship of the entire Camden district for 1944.

Father Meador born and reared in the South is well principled in the problems of the South and its people and has at heart the infrest of both people and community. Proud of his American citizenship and equally so of his southern birth he is ever ready to advance the cause of the community in which he lives.

Grenada can be justly proud to have as a citizen such a splendid southern church and civic leader. Father Meador is anxious to meet the people of the community and shall be happy to greet anyone who may call at his office located on Poplar Street in about two weeks.

At this time Father Meador wishes to announce a special service for Mother's Day, May 9th at 10 o'clock to which the public is cordially invited. The service will consist of a Missa Cantata and sermon. The choir will render the Miss Angelica ably directed by Mr./Sgt. John J. Swek, 381 Air Force Band, Grenada Air Base.

Main Bridge At Camp Burned

The bridge on Prospect Road over Bogue River in the heart of Camp McCain was almost ruined by fire Tuesday afternoon of this week. Prospect Road is the main road in the camp and the bridge destroyed is the main bridge.

Is it aCORN, or Acorn?

R. B. "Dink" Thomason Enters Chancery Clerk Race

Mr. R. B. Thomason, most familiarly known as "Dink" Thomason, has authorized the Grenada County Weekly to say that he is for the second time a definite candidate for the very important office of Chancery Clerk.

He is a native of the Pearidge community in Beat Four of this county where, except for the time he attended G.H.S. and the time he, by his own efforts, attended the Mississippi A. & M. College at Starkville, he has lived continuously. There he now owns and operates a large farm and, unlike many who fell out of the picture, lived thru the economic storm that swept so many farmers into bankruptcy during the disastrous 30's.

He stated that he was deeply appreciative of the nice vote he received in 1939 and particularly pleased that he led his two worthy opponents in his own beat.

Realizing that, ere another quadrennial election rolls around again, the armed forces will be discharged and their members returned to civil life, he promises to relinquish the office, if elected, in favor of a returned soldier or sailor, and not again to seek election. In short, he realizes that this is his (as well as others' not in the present war) last shot at public office. He realizes, as do most thinking people, that the men now in service will run the country once peace is declared, much like the old Confederates ran this country until their numbers were practically reduced to naught.

He feels that he is fully competent to perform the duties of the office he seeks, otherwise he would not vouchsafe to place his name before the people.

Everyone knows that he is an aggressive campaigner and that he will leave no stone unturned to get his message to each and every voter of the county.

To the tender mercies, therefore, of the electorate of Grenada County, we commit the candidacy of Mr. Thomason.

F. W. A. Gives Final Appoval To Health Unit Building

News has been received from Washington that final FWA approval has been given the project for building a County Health Unit home on part of the old Baptist Church lot but that final approval must be given this project by the Appropriation Committee.

Plans for this building call for either a brick or a concrete building, with 1400 square feet in the basement and 1400 square feet in the first floor. The building, if built, will face south and will occupy the southwest corner of the church property, on which the City of Grenada already has an option.

Efforts were recently made in Atlanta by the Mayor to have a combined USO-Health Unit building placed on the entire lot, but his efforts were not successful.

Suggestion is made that those who are interested in having this project—which is officially called Miss 22-189—approved by the Appropriation Committee write the Congressman and Senators, seeking their aid in the matter.

Mrs. R. E. L. Johnson Died Suddenly

Mrs. Earl Brkley was notified of the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. R. E. L. Johnson at her home in Memphis, Tuesday afternoon, May 4, 1943, at two o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Burkley and their son, Bobby, left immediately for Memphis. The funeral will be conducted at the National Funeral Home today (Thursday).

The many friends of the Burkley and Johnson families grieve with them in the loss of their mother and wife.

Graduates At Infantry Officer Training School

Candidate Montell Clogston, son of Mrs. L. M. Clogston, of Grenada, received his coveted gold bars on April 29, 1943 at the Infantry Officers Candidate School at Fort Benning, and is spending a few days at home with his mother and friends.

J. C. Shaw Announces For Supervisor, Beat Two

The entrance this week of Griffis Shaw in the Beat Two supervisor's race adds more interest to an already interesting race.

Mr. Shaw was born and reared, as well as educated in the eastern part of Beat Two where he and his father before him were successful farmers. In fact his father, J. E. Shaw, Sr., was supervisor several terms 'way back when.

By experience and training, and by personal interest in economy in government, Mr. Shaw possesses the qualifications to make a good official. By hard work and thrift, and by the constant help of a good wife, he has carved out a niche for himself in the district he aspires to represent.

He has no glowing promises to make, for he realizes that before the next administration ends the board of supervisors is likely to face unprecedented problems inherent in an era of reconstruction and an era of adjustment from the war economy to a peace economy, but he does promise, if elected, to give his best thought and attention, supplemented by experience that he has gained the hard way, to make the best supervisor that he is capable of making.

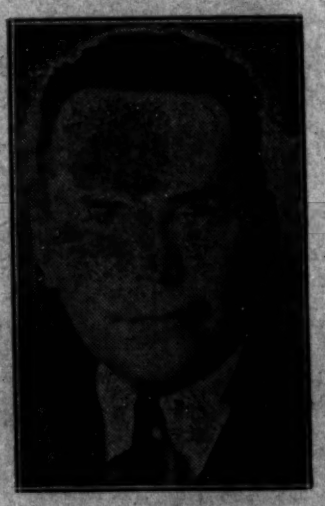
To the tender mercies of the people of Beat Two, we, therefore commit his candidacy.

Puts Over Red Cross Drive In Fine Shape

The sum of $22,883.51 was collected in Grenada County in the Red Cross drive ending recently. The quota for this county was $12,200.00.

Contributions came from the community and from the military personnel, as follows:

CHAIRMAN OF DRIVE



S. H. HORTON

Community	$11,117.74
Military Personnel	11,765.77
TOTAL	$22,883.51

Mr. S. H. Horton was the chairman of the drive.

The old lady spent the day at our old stomping grounds, Oxberry, last week. She gave, or gave out as the saying is, about 60 cents worth of seed to the negro tenants. If she had buried the 60 cents, she could have dug that sum up at her convenience. As it is, I guarantee she will never get so much as one bean back. However, she is an eternal optimist.

MEN OF THE Infantry Division 87

The 87th Infantry Division, the "Baby Division" of the Army has been activated only a few short months—but men of the 87th have fought in every major campaign of World War II.

From the first now famous rout of Romel's Africa Corps by Field Marshal Wavell, to the Nazi reign of terror and executions throughout Europe—future members of the 87th were present.

The case of Private Ian R. McGregor, of the 346th Infantry Regiment, is a prime example. Pvt. McGregor came to the 87th by way of Malta, Bardia, Tobruk, El Amamein and a few other places where the fighting has been the bloodiest since 1939.

He joined the rush to the colors in his native Australia in 1938, enlisting under his brother's name because he himself was too young for overseas duty. He received his training and in 1939 was sent with his unit to Egypt, where he took part in the first Libyan campaign under Wavell, and saw his first action in the storming and capture of Bardia.

When the Greeks evacuated their homeland and made their last valiant stand on the island of Grete, McGregor and his buddies were on hand fighting side by side against the overwhelming rush of Nazi bombers. And when the going became too tough he took to the hills and guerilla warfare.

For 30 days, McGregor and 13 others held out against the far superior forces of the enemy, existing on berries, and what little food they could obtain from ambushed German patrols, when they killed in hand-to-hand combat, never daring to fire a shot for fear of giving away their position. For 30 days they held out before taking to the seas in a small fishing boat with seven figs as the only rations for 14 desperate men.

Three days and three nights of just floating—and then from the briny deep of the Mediterranean came a sub—and headed for them. And they thought their time had come. But it turned out to be a British sub which took them to Malta and then finally to Alexandria where they received hospitalization.

Three months later after a rest in a Palestine hospital, McGregor was again ready for action—and got it at Tobruk. He entered Tobruk with General Sir Claude Auchinleck's victorious Army, but received wounds which resulted in his being sent back to Australia, and given an honorary discharge, a day which in his own words, "Was the worst in my life."

After his recovery from the wounds, still looking for a part in the war, he took a job on a freighter going around Cape Horn to Scotland, and eventually found his way to New York, where he tried in every way possible to enlist in the U. S. Army.

He was told that he could be taken as a voluntary draftee, and so in November he was inducted at Camp Upton, New York, and joined the "Acorn Division" on January 23, 1943, ready to do still more in the cause of the United Nations through the medium of this fighting Division.

The "Ark" Destroyed By Fire Tuesday Night

The "Ark", a long, large and rambling building on the North side of the Peavine, was badly damaged by fire of unknown origin Tuesday night about 9:30 o'clock. It was occupied by numerous families of colored people, and was owned by City Lumber Company. It was partially covered by insurance.

Soldiers and school boys did fine work at the fire.

Work of rebuilding started Wednesday morning as soon as the embers cooled.

We are seeing this week which is the larger, the United States government or John L. Lewis.

KONDORF-MORRIS

The marriage of Miss Barneta Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asa A. Morris, of Grenada, and Lt. Howard O. Kondorf, of Camp McCain, Miss., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kondorf, of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y. was solemnized April 30th at the Regimental Chapel of the 347th Infantry, Camp McCain, at eight o'clock in the evening. The officiating minister, Captain Graham, saying the beautiful Episcopal marriage service, in which the double ring service was included. The ceremony was witnessed by a group of close friends of the couple and by relatives.

The Chapel was decorated with large bouquets of spring flowers held in floor baskets of white wicker and placed to flank the altar. A soft light from the altar tapers cast a glow over the scene.

Talented friends of the groom presented a program of violin and vocal nuptial music preceding the wedding.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Clyde Jacks, wore a handsome suit of oyster white. Her hat was of brown straw and her bag and shoes of lizard. Her corsage was of tiny white Star of Bethlehem flowers. The bride's mother wore a navy sheer with navy and white accessories. The groom's mother wore an original model of navy sheer, powder blue hued ribbons so arranged as to show through the sheer material of the bodice. Her matching navy blue hat was adorned with roses and a chic veil. Her gloves were of powder blue and corsage was of lavender orchids.

The groom was attended by his friend, Lt. Leeds.

The bride entered the Chapel on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was handsomely attired in a spring model suit of nile green with honey dew beige accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman rose buds and tiny bronze orchids. Her jewelry, a gift from the groom's parents, was an heirloom bar pin of sapphires and pearls.

She is a graduate of the High School here and has been connected with the Quality Shop as manager for some time. She plans to continue her work.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kondorf, of New York, and is now a Lieutenant in the 347th Infantry 87th Division at Camp McCain. The groom's father is vice president of Fairchild Air Craft Corporation in New York.

After a honeymoon spent in the charming city of New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Kondorf will reside in Grenada.

MRS. SAM C. MIMS, III ENTERTAINS

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Sam C. Mims III entertained most delightfully at bridge at her home on Snider Street. Lovely bouquets of iris, lilies and roses graced the occasional tables and mantle, adding a most attractive note to the reception rooms.

As the guests arrived they were served iced Coca-Cola and at the end of the games, delectable strawberry short cake was served.

Two prizes were awarded and first prize, a bottle of Lucean Lelong Cologne, was captured by Mrs. Donald Sharp. Low score prize, a lovely handkerchief, was given to Mrs. Banks. Mrs. Bert Bays was presented a lovely corsage of talisman rose buds as it was her birthday anniversary. The guest list included Mesdames Bert Bays, Thomas Grant, J. B. Williams, Byron Hunter, Garland Herd, Donald Sharp, and Orla Banks.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Civic League will meet in the home of Mrs. A. W. Stokes at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, May 12. Reporter.

Miss Betty Horn returned home Monday from Memphis, where she went to consult the specialist at Campbell Clinic.

Mrs. E. R. Barrentine has just returned home from a visit to her son, Emmett, who is in training at the University of Pittsburgh, Pa. He enlisted in the Air Corps at Miss. State College early this year and was then sent to this training center. It is interesting to Grenada friends to know that another Grenada boy, Thomas Bell, is at this same training center. Mrs. Barrantine went by way of Cincinnati, Ohio, where she met her husband, who is now stationed there as representative of his company.

Lt. Lawrence Allison, U. S. Air Corps, who graduated and received his commission on April 29, at Napier Field, Dothan, Ala., is at home for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Allison. Congratulations, Lawrence.

Miss Elise Lockett spent Sunday in Memphis with her brother, Instructor James Russell Lockett, who was injured two weeks ago in a plane crash near Clarksdale. He is at the Baptist Hospital receiving treatment for a broken jaw, head injuries and a crushed shoulder. His many friends here are grieved over this serious injury and are hopeful that he will soon be able to be back home.

Mrs. Estes Pleasants will leave the latter part of this week for Columbia, Tenn., to visit her son, Hal, who is a student in a military academy there.

GRENADA MATRONS FETED

Mrs. G. W. Lambert and Mrs. Eugene Turnipseed have returned home from Webb where they were the guests of Mrs. Lambert's daughter, Mrs. Sharkey Campbell. While there they were honored on several occasions. On Tuesday afternoon a picture show party was given in their honor at the theatre in Clarksdale, and on Tuesday evening their hostess entertained two tables of bridge players. On Wednesday morning, Mrs. A. S. Campbell, Sr. entertained graciously in their honor at a 10 o'clock Coca-Cola party. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Leo Hill entertained at bridge, arranging three tables for the guests. They returned home late that afternoon.

PLAY GROUND OPENS

We have been asked to publicize the fact that the childen's play ground, located on Line Street between the George and Perry homes, is open for the summer, and Miss Mary Ross is supervisor.

The Woman's Club, backed by the Lions Club, will sponsor this worthwhile project.

The same rules as were in effect last year are being observed this year. The supervisor will be on duty six days a week between the hours of 3 to 8 p. m. The flag will indicate her presence. At any other time parents send their children to the play ground they will do so on their own responsibility.

MORGAN-FLEMING

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Fleming announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn Joyce, to Edward H. Morgan on September 12th in Winona, Miss. The Rev. Mr. Flowers, minister of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Morgan is a graduate of Grenada High School and is now a student at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, Miss.

Mr. Morgan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Lowrey, formerly of Grenada and now residing in Pine Bluff, graduated from Tupelo High School and was attending Louisiana State University untid called to the army the past week. He is a member of Theta Xi Fraternity.

Mrs. Morgan returned to college Sunday and upon completion of this year's studies will join Mr. Morgan at his post.—Contributed.

ALL SAINTS AUXILIARY

All Saints Episcopal Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Ben Brown Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. W. W. Whitaker, presided and led the devotional. Ten members were present and following the devotional the ladies sewed for Red Cross until 5 o'clock, totaling 25 hours Red Cross work for their auxiliary.

Mrs. Harper Hughes is spending this week in Dallas, Texas with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Perry, Sr., and daughter, Mary Jane, visited their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cato at Webb last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lambert accompanied them on this trip and visited their children, Mr. and Mrs. Sharkey Campbell.

On Saturday night last the American Legion Auxiliary sponsored the USO dance. The affair was one of the best held for some time and the dancers enjoyed a full evening of dancing. Each week one of the city clubs will be asked to sponsor the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Enderlin have returned after spending the winter at Brownsville, Texas.

Miss Gertrude Bouchard recently attended the wedding of her sister at Columbus, Ga.

Sgt. and Mrs. Grady Green, of Phoenix, Ariz. arrived home Sunday night for a furlough with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brunson.

Flight Instructor Lee McCormick, of Gunter Field, Ala. visited his mother, Mrs. Nan McCormick, last week.

Friends of "Smoky" Parks will learn with interest that he is now Sgt. Parks. His promotion was effective April 1st at his station in Alaska.

Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Hill enjoyed having their son, Francis, at home from the University of Mississippi the past week-end. Francis is soon to enter active service in the navy.

Mrs. Gertrude Marders spent the latter part of last week at Belhaven College in Jackson, as the guest of her daughter, Miss Gene Marders, who is president of student body there. Mrs. Marders went to Belhaven at this time to take part in a program staged at the college.

Mr. Parrish Taylor, who has worked for DuPont near Birmingham for some time, passed through here Sunday night. He spent the night with his mother, Mrs. Marders and left the next morning for a new assignment in Washington state.

Mrs. Hal Rogers has just returned from Itta Bena where she visited in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Travis Clark and family.

MOORE-WINDHAM

A wedding of wide interest was solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church in Grenada last Friday, April 30, when Miss Jeffie Adair Windham daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Windham, of Rolling Fork, Miss., and member of the Grenada schools faculty, became the bride of Cpl. Douglass Moore, of Camp McCain, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Moore, of Pensacola, Fla. The vows were said before an impovished altar formed of wicker baskets filled with lovely gladiolias and ferns. Rev. C. A. Pharr, pastor, assisted by Rev. Robinson, Methodist minister, officiated in the presence of a large gathering of friends. Mr. John Rundle gave the bride away.

Miss Katherine Wilson, at the organ, presided over the nuptial music program, being assisted by Cpl. Fred Balazs, violinist and Mrs. E. R. Pleasants, soloist. The traditional wedding marches were used and during the ceremony Miss Wilson played "O Perfect Love." Miss Wilson wore a lovely spring frock of eggshell crepe with pastel hued ribbon trim. Her corsage was of blue iris.

Mrs. Pleasants chose a light blue crepe dress with matching hat and her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Pleasants sang, "Love Here Is My Heart" and "At Dawning."

Cpl. Balaza violin solos, "To An Evening Star" and Traumeri" were exquisitely rendered.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Hudean Windham, of Ruleville, Miss. Her costume was a chic black and white spring suit and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The groom's best man was his friend from Camp McCain, Pvt. Criss Poulos.

The bride entered the church on the arm of Professor John Rundle, who gave her in marriage. She was handsomely attired in an Isenberg suit of blue crepe. Her accessories were white with touches of navy blue and her corsage was of roseburs and iris.

She is a popular member of the Grenada School faculty, having taught here last year and during the present term. She is a graduate of the high school of her home town and a graduate of State Teacher's College at Hattiesburg.

The groom is a graduate of the high school at Pensacola and attended Emory College, Atlanta, Ga. He possesses a splendid baritone voice and has been most gracious whenever asked to sing at churches or on entertainments programs for the soldiers.

After a brief honeymoon in Memphis, Cpl. and Mrs. Moore will reside at the home of Mrs. Roger Pleasants on Snider Street.

W. S. OF C. S. MEETS

On Monday afternoon the Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist Church for a business meeting. Mrs. R. A. Clanton, president, presided and the devotional was led by Mrs. Stokes. Mrs. Clanton spoke on the duties and privileges of the W. S. of C. S. organization.

Announcements were made concerning next week's meetings.

Circle No. 1 will meet at the home of Mrs. Forbes.

Circle No. 2 with Mrs. Jobe.

Circle No. 3 with Mrs. Godbold.

Circle No. 4 with Mrs. Spivey Kent.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYE

By Mrs. W. W. Whitaker

Next Sunday, May 9th, is Mother's Day and the nation will celebrate by paying tribute and honor to the mothers of America. Much will be said of mother's love and sacrifices throughout the the past and most mothers will accept the tribute complacently and as her due homage. As I see it a great many American Mothers have not been called on to make real sacrifices for their children yet. Most American women are the best cared for women in the world. Their homes are better than the King's palace of a generation ago, they have every conceivable comfort, every delicacy of food, every wish granted them by the over indulgent American father and husband and son. Their children are healthy, and are supervised throughout their years of education by highly paid instructors; they are Christened in the church and are taught the moral law and are free independant thinkers before they leave high school.

One of the problems of the American mother, which truly must be solved before she conscientious accepts a Mother's Day tribute, is to live so near to the lives of her children that within her own heart she may say to her own satisfaction, "My son is a moral man and my daughter is a true woman."

To know that your own child hates a lie—to know that your child will ever keep his or her fingers from picking and stealing, to know that there will always be compassion in their hearts for the unfortunate unshielded human beings regardless of race or position in society; to further know to their own satisfaction that their child hates the bigotry of false leaders, despises the man who uses money and influential position in a community to take away the good name of another man's wife; to set orders his own acts that his own flesh and blood not bear the stigma of illegitimacy or of being forever imprisoned within the body of a half breed; to refuse to accept damaging gossip as true and to repeat it just for the coarses pleasure it affords. A mother's responsibility is so great that she must live close to her God and by her humbleness and closeness to Him be privileged to ask His mercy and compassion.

The Gold Star mothers who have lost their sons in the war being waged to protect our country are the mothers who have suffered. Those mothers who have sons in combat duty now are walking along the road other women have walked throughout the ages, and where many of us mothers have yet to walk. These mothers have the Nations reverence and sympathy, and the honor paid them is most genuine.

All of us know that the young men of the world are being killed, not because they hate each other, but because men and women of our generation and the generation preceding us, have departed from the moral way of life and have broken all the rules.

To the mothers of tomorrow may the vision come, inspiring and directing the way to a more noble motherhood, to a more appreciative and finer career as a mother that family life will be directed along the line of Christian ideals so that greater happiness may enter the homes of this great land of ours.

DEHYDRATION

We hear a great deal these days about the necessity for the production of increased amounts of food. Making food available includes production, preserving, and distribution in balanced proportions.

MISS IZARD

There are five general methods for preserving food, namely: canning; freezing; dehydrating; pit, cellar, and house storage; and curing and pickling with salt, sugar and spices.

In preserving food by any method there are four important jobs to be done, namely: selecting the products, preparing the products, doing the actual job of canning, freezing or dehydrating, and packing these products. Each of these jobs is of equal importance, and each must be done thoroughly if a good product is to be obtained.

Whether living during an emergency or under peace time conditions, it should be remembered that dehydration is only one of five general methods used in preserving food, and the acceptability of dehydrated foods is dependent upon their quality as compared with the same foods preserved by other methods.

Preservation of fruits and vegetables by dehydration is not a difficult process. There are certain fundamental principles governing successful operation, however, that should be understood. The process consists in the removal of sufficient water to insure the product against spoilage organisms, such as yeasts, molds, and bacteria. With good equipment and careful operation, water can be evaporated from fruits and vegetables in a way that will preserve the food value and most of the natural flavor and color of the fresh material. Dehydrated products when refreshed should be nearly equal in cooking qualities.

Varieties of fruits and vegetables of proved quality and yield in your community should be chosen for dehydration. For recommended varieties consult your County Home Demonstration Agent. Varieties that make good canned products are equally good, as a rule, for dehydrating purposes.

Green vegetables are best if harvested in the morning, before the sun gets too hot, and dehydration started the same day. They may be gathered in the evening, washed in cold water, kept in a cool place, and dehydrated the next morning. Green vegetables will lose much of their content of Vitamin C if allowed to remain in storage for several days. Changes of similar nature occur in other vegetables if stored too long.

Fresh fruits and vegetables provide in greatest abundance the vitamins, sugars, proteins, minerals, and other nutritive substances essential to growth and health of the human body. In preparing and dehydrating them, care must be exercised to preserve as much as possible of their fresh characteristics.

For further information about the process of dehydration and the construction of a home dehydrator you may see your County Home Demonstration Agent. Watch for more definite information on dehydration in later bulletins.

ELECTION OF MEMBER OF GRENADA COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD

When the Long Distance Telephone Operator
SAYS: "I'm sorry, due to heavy business, there will be a one- or two-hour delay on your call". . .

It Means: All long distance telephone lines to the place you are calling are overcrowded with urgent war business.

Under such conditions, if your call isn't extremely urgent, it will help a lot if you will tell the operator to cancel your call, so as to avoid still further crowding of the lines.

If your call is important, but you can wait until some other time to talk, then tell the operator to cancel the call, and try again when you find the lines are less crowded.

The deeper we get into this war, the greater the demand for more and more long distance telephone service for war agencies. Their calls must go over the same lines that civilians use.

So in order to give all aid possible to those who are responsible for the successful carrying on of this war, we are asking civilians to make only the most necessary long distance telephone calls, and to be brief on all calls.

May we count on your cooperation?

A Father's Farewell To His Soldier Son

I am inserting a very fine statement by W. Henson Purcell, of West Franklin, Ill., made to his son Bill as he left for the Army:

"Well, Bill, your number is up. You are going to the Army. There is a job of serious, nasty, uncivilized business to be taken care of and you have been assigned a part in it.

"The task is unpleasant, repulsive. The assignment is different from anthing that you had planned. Yet it is a privilege as well as a responsibility. For only Americans—the pick of the Nation's manhood—are eligible to march with Uncle Sam's armed citizenry and participate in this grim game of war.

"There is now but one thing to do. Make the most of it. Be a soldier in every sense of the word.

"I told you, as a little curly-headed boy, when you started to school that I wanted you to endeavor always to be the best in your classes.

"Then when you grew up and started thinking of your first job I told you that, even though you were employed at nothing more important than ditch digging, I wanted you to try to be the best ditch digger on the job.

"Now, as you go with millions of other sons from millions of other American homes, I want you to put all that you have into this business of soldiering. It matters not whether you ever wear bars or stars if you are man enough to be a good soldier. And being a good soldier means more than drilling and marching and fighting—and dying.

"It means living in a man's world as a man should live.

"There is an inclination on the part of too many men, once they are in the Army away from the influences of home and family and reputation, to cut loose, go the gaits. There is in the Army, as in civilian life, every type of manhood and every social strata. Every man is on his own. The choice is yours.

"Men, like water, ultimately seek their own level in the Army as elsewhere. Don't lower your standards, Bill.

"Then there is the matter of soldiering. The fellows who have difficity with Army life are those who refuse to adjust themselves to the rigid discipline that, although stern and harsh, is as necessary as are guns and tanks and planes. The 'yes sir' men are those who get along in the Army.

"To attempt to buck the game is folly. The Army is bigger than any man in it. Failure to become a working part of it is the worst mistake any soldier can make.

"So I hope, Bill, that you will be able to accept your lot in this grim business as just another chapter in life's exacting school of experience and endeavor to get out of it something worth while; something that will help in the years ahead.

"I am saying these things to you—not because you are different from the millions of other young men who have gone and are going out to engage in this world contest in death—but because you are my own flesh and blood.

"Because, man though you are, you will ever be that little boy of mine.

"The uniform that wil shortly be issued to you stands for the high and noble principles upon which this Nation was founded and has since existed—principles that, to much of the rest of the world, are unknown.

"It has never gone to war except in defense of the principles for which it stands. It has never gone on a rampage of conquest or appression. That uniform, Bill, is the hope of Old Glory and 130,000,000 Americans. It is the hope of civilian. Wear it with pride.

"I remember wel that day, almostt 24 years ago, when at Camp Gordon, I was handed a telegram that announced that you had made me a father. I was the soldier then. You were the war baby.

"I remember the day, four months later, when I gazed for the first time upon your face, I remember every day of your life since that time. I shall watch—and pray—every anxious day for your safe return.

"When you have a son of your own some day, as I hope you shall, you will know what I mean. I hope your going to the Army wil be more successful in reeing your sons from the scorge of war than was mine for you.

"There are two things that I want to give you, Bill, as you go to join other father's sons in this business of killing, from which God alone knows whether you will return.

"Both went with me to the Army 25 years ago.

"One is a khaki-covered textbook on military methods and soldiery. Peruse its pages and endeavor to master the art of being a good soldier. It may not bring you promotions and high honors, for there are in the Army, after al, more mere men than anything else. But it will bring to you the satisfaction of doing well whatever you do.

"The other, also khaki-covered, is a Bible. Don't feel that to take it is being sissy. There will no doubt be times when just to hold it in your hands wil bring a mysterious comfort. I confess that I read it but little while I was in uniform. Yet there were times when its nearness—the knowledge that it had stood the test of all time and countless other wars—seemed to sort of satisfy my longing for you and Mom.

"Take them Bill, and use them. Make the most of the Army and come back a better man than when you left.

"It seems a bit silly, doesn't it, to send you away with a gun in one hand and a Bible in the other? The gun to kill. The Bible: 'Thou shalt not.' There is no explanation except that the gun appears for the present to be necessary to our national security.

"Learn to use the gun, Bill, but rely, finally, upon the Bible.

"And may the Good Lord—though I confess it is a big assignment—watch over and keep you, and those who go with you as the guardians of American freedom, until the day—and may He speed the day—when we shall thank God for peace and a safe homecoming.

"So long, Bill."

No Military Censorship Of The Press

On three different occasions I have been "called down" about harmless little items concerning persons at the camp, each of which articles was written in fun and in the vein that I have used for a number of years in writing of those I like (I never mention anyone I dislike).

I think it should be definitely understood that there is no military censorship on the American press, but there IS a voluntary censorship, one which I have leaned over backwards to live up to. Just last week, I could have published an article which was of definite news value, but which would have served no useful purpose, but to the contrary.

Nobody at Camp McCain, or anywhere else, is going to censor the news columns of this newspaper and the sooner this is understood, the better. I was honorably discharged from the United States Army in April, 1919, and, therefore, I am no longer subject to Army Regulations.

On one occasion, a young lady who sometimes writes a column for the GCW was "put on the carpet". I and I alone, as the editor, am responsible for what goes inton the GCW and what is not published in the GCW. I can be sued for libel, if I publish libelous matter.

Before I am censured for trivial matters placed in the GCW, I should be thanked for major matters that I have LEFT OUT of the GCW.

This is being written in the best of spirit and is addressed "to whom it may be of concern."

A New Home Each Day In Grenada

From the authoritative NATIONAL REAL ESTATE JOURNAL of February, 1943, we were happy to read a story of the wonderful construction achievements of Mr. Wallace E. Johnson, but the parts that interested us most were the first two paragraphs, quoted below:

New, modern, livable homes for American war workers—permanently constructed, every one—rise by the hour down in the deep South. Built at the rate of four a day by Wallace E. Johnson, of Memphis, they are located in four subdivisions of 60 houses each in four different cities, in two states, and will be completed in 60 days.

Mr. Johnson's homes are being erected in Greenwood and Grenada, in Mississippi, and in Pine Bluff and Blytheville, Arkansas. He had gained much experience in the field of housing war workers during the past two years, so that the stipulation of completing the 240 houses in 60 days was a minor matter.

This article was written very likely last December, so that Grenada has had the 60 new homes since February. Unfortunateely for the people of Grenada, however, they are not aware of the existence of these new homes. Nobody seems to know where they are located, hence it is impossible to direct a prospective tenant to any of them.

I personally have tried to find out where these 60 homes are located, but with no success. I have arrived at the conclusion that the homes are of the transparent kind, or of the so-called "mirage" variety.

We have been raising Hell about there being no housing program here in Grenada, but now apologize for the reason that the enterprising Mr. Johnson already has 60 new homes built, even if no one seems to know anything about these homes.

Maybe they are some of these here "dream homes" that we see illustrated (surrounded by smoke from the cigaret) in the romantic magazines.

Anyway Grenada has 60 new homes, even if they cannot be located.

No Part Is As Great As The Whole

If I remember rightly, there is a theorem in Geometry that no part is greater than the whole, or that the whole is greater than any part, or something like that.

We Americans are soon to find out whether a few hundred thousand miners, led by John L. Lewis, are greater than the United Sttates of America.

If I recall rightly, all of the large unions made a pledge right after Pearl Harbor that there would be no strikes during the duration. As this is being written (Monday afternoon) practically every coal miner is walking about, idle, awaiting orders from their chief, John L. Lewis. Some sort of armistice, designed to postpone final settlement of the dispute has been effected.

On Sunday evening, President Roosevelt addressed the people. The gist of his speech was this: "Coal must be mined" without interruption. Monday John L. Lewis issued a statement to the effect that his demands had not changed. At this time, the majority of miners seem to be inclined to follow Lewis instead of Roosevelt.

Admit if you will that the coal miners have some just grievances, yet remember the "no strike for the duration" declaration, and remember the War Labor Board was organized to bring about settlements of disputes without cessation of work. The government has been notoriously lenient with organized labor (remember the pussyfooting that went on with the sit-down strikers), and the organized miners should proceed with their vital work.

We shall soon see who is the larger, the U. S. government or John L. Lewis. Our money is on the nose of the government.

The Elevator Is Not Running . . .

I note that the slogan of the 1943 graduating class of the Grenada Colored School is "The elevator to Success is not running; take the stairs."

This may be an adage as old as the elevators for all I know, but it is new to me. Certainly, that sentence is a sermon in itself.

It applies equally to both sexes. It applies equally to all races. It applies equally to all trades and professions. It was true yesterday. It is true today. It will be true tomorrow.

Things Getting Bad In Hinds County

According to a news story in the always reliable Sunday Jackson Daily News, Theo Gillis, a cafe operator, has been accused by the County Health Department of slaughtering a DECEASED hog on the Gillis farm.

Other than stating that conditions are getting bad in our chief city, I do not think I need to say anything else.

THE HOME FRONT

SPEARHEAD DIGEST OF WAR INFORMATION

The gigantic war-bond drive to raise $1,000,000,000 in three weeks got off to a good start last week. And if there's anybody left who doesn't know where this money goes, here is the answer—95 cents of every dollar is slated for direct war costs. Only four cents go to non-war government expense, and the other penny represents the interest we receive when we invest in war bonds.

FAKE INVESTIGATORS

OPA discovered a house-to-house survey gag in which men who claim to represent the OPA are asking Southern housewives to show them their pantry shelves. No such survey is being made, so don't let strangers 'put anything over on you.

Extra kerosene rations will be allowed persons who do home-canning on oil burning stoves.

STAY-AT-HOME VACATIONS

WPB believes vacations this year will relieve the strain of war work. But nobody encourges travel. ODT says trains will become more crowded than ever. OPA says auto travel is out. Extra rations of gas will be refused even for persons who want to travel between summer homes and work this year.

And no synthetic tires are in sight for civilian use before 1944.

HOW DOES THE GARDEN GROW?

Production of fertilizers will be greater than ever this year . . . So Victory gardens should flourish.

The Department of Agriculture, reporting on 3,000,000 bales of the 1942 cotton crop, announces that loans have already been made on more than half of the crop.

Peaches and melons will have to be shipped this year under new loading rules announced by the Office of Defense Transportation.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS

When conscientious objectors are drafted under Selective Service, they are put to work. It is now announced that some are being sent overseas for fatigue duty in China. Back here, they work on farms and help with sanitary and health projects.

Farm fencing has been removed from rationing control.

Price ceilings on meat have been postponed. OPA now announces they will go into effect May 17.

WAR MODELS

Streamlined overalls will soon come out . . . Simplified war-model shoes are being planned, and there are proposals for simplifying some types of luggage and eliminating others to save leather.

There's not a shortage of wool, but folks were advised this week to take good care of wool clothing and blankets . . . In wartime, there's none too much of anything.

RED MEAT

Folks who are worried about meat supplies may find a crumb in this—A new meat, dark red and tasting something like beef, is getting a play. It's whale meat. And zoologists say whales are mammals; so it's meat not fish.

Perhaps we'll see corned whale and cabbage. With the cabbage crop ready to move in Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, price differences which threatened supplies have been settled.

NURSING OPPORTUNITIES

One of the most critical manpower shortages at present is for nurses. The country girls are turning out to be better at this job than their city cousins, too. Why? . . . They don't mind getting up in the morning.

There'll be no shortage of brides this year, if War Production Board figures mean anything. It's authorizing the manufacture of baby carriages, strollers, bay walkers and the like. More than a million will be needed in 1943, it says.

New entrance rules for the WAACs require a girl to have two years of high school or an equivalent amount of education to join the Woman's Army. Previously, there were no fixed educational requirements.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Due to shortage of help for the number of people we have to serve, and the difficulty we have in securing merchandise for our civilian customers, which requires twice as much work as in normal times, we are compelled to reduce the number of charge accounts on our books.

The charge privilege will no longer be extended to those having past due bills with us May 1st which are not paid in full by May 15th. Any account in the future that is not paid by the 25th of the month following date of purchase, unless special arrangements have been made due to purchases being too heavy for payment in one month, will also be discontinued.

Ninety percent of our customers pay their bills when due or during the month following date of purchase or according to terms specially arranged. This is, therefore, directed to the remaining ten percent who do not seem to realize that we are in a war nor do they have the proper appreciation of a service for which no charge is made.

We just hope that we will have sufficient help from this time out to continue giving this service to those who are considerate and have always appreciated this service for their convenience.

WOMEN, TOO, Serve IN NAVY BLUE!

AND YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS YOU NOW * * * *

Your life in the WAVES or SPARS may well be the beginning of a new career. You will be well paid, well fed, well housed and free of financial cares. You will have no clothes to buy during your stay in the service. And, most important, you will receive training worth hundreds of dollars in a specialty or trade, which may be followed as a profitable occupation in civilian life after the war is won. The same ratings, pay and opportunities for advancement which in the past have led thousands of men to "choose the Navy" are now open to enlisted women in the WAVES or SPARS. Women from 20 to 36 years of age are eligible for enlistment.

ALL IN FUN

(By Favorite Correspondent)

Since this news is not written from camp, or by Campist, we have decided to change the name of the column to avoid confusion and misunderstanding. But of course, we still bring you the news, or rather, chatter, about the boys and girls out there.

The very fine Vet. from Camp, Lt. Feckner, has ben out at Glenwild o' Sundays getting his little boy acquainted with animals. The baby is just learning to toddle, but he shows quite a professional interst already in the little terrier pups out there. By the way, the Lt. and his very pretty wife were at the dance this Saturday, at the Club.

So were the Lt. Posts and Capt. Davenports, from camp and Charleston. Mrs. Davenport's sister-in-law, Mrs. Savage, was visiting her here, and also attended the dance.

We also saw Capt. and Mrs. Carter of camp and the Barwin, eating at the Club Saturday.

And we saw one beautiful Lt. Col. in an immaculate white uniform. Tried to get his name and branch, but couldn't get close to him, he was surrounded.

Paid a little visit out to the U. S. Engineer Offices yesterday, and it looks like a ghost Camp. Mrs. Bessie Nazarian is still very efficiently on the switchboard. Her husband, Staff Sergeant Nazarian, is now stationed at Camp Weingarten, Mo. and Bessie is going to join him there the 15th of this month.

Also stationed at the same camp are Sergeant and Mrs. Kochie. You all remember her as Myrtle, the switchboard operator.

Chas. T. Main is absolutely closed up. And J. A. Jones is being practically plowed under. Mr. Neilly is still holding the building together out there, though.

Asphalt-plant Rubin is fixing to leave the town soon, and head for Florida, wher he has a big job. He's about the cutest little bachelor around, girls, better hurry—you still have a week.

Gravel-man Harris still pays flying calls out to the Air Base, but spends most of his time at the new job in Missouri.

So that brings us up to date on most of the contractors.

Oh, yes, Capt. Jimmie Emmons, formerly one of the big boys in the Area Engineers' Office, stopped by here yesterday to say hello. He's now stationed in Missouri, too, but came home to see his mother, who was quite ill. She is greatly improved, however.

Also heard from our sources of information in Greenville that Mr. Vinzant, former Asst. Area Engineer was playing around there last week, and looked very relaxed after his hard year at camp.

Let us all sympathize with Lt. (newly First Lt. Congratulations) Jack Spector, who has missed his week-end trip to Memphis for three weeks now. His friends, Lts. Tracy and Archie celebrated for him last week, however.

Last week it seemed that we chattered about a super-sensitive young Major, and we really didn't mean any harm. We merely misjudged his sense of humor and of dignity, inversely.

And one other little correction and apology. Horn and Greenfield slipped up on the name of the Russian-bank expert—it is Miss Dougherty, not Miss Dorothy.

So that's all this week, chilluns.

CHAMBERLAIN GRADUATES

Charged with the vital task of keeping huge B-24 Liberators in the high state of mechanical perfection required for modern aerial combat, Pfc. George L. Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Chamberlain, Grenada, Miss., was graduated recently as an expert mechanic from this unit of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at Keesler Field, Miss.

GERIG-HODGES

A wedding of interest occurred on May 1st, 1943, when Miss Ivy Mae Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hodges, of Coffeeville, Miss., became the bride of Sgt. Jess J. eGrig Jr., of Camp McCain, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J Gerig, of Garvill, Ind. at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Glen E. Wiley.

Attendants were Miss Lois Brannon as bride's maid and Sgt. Raymond Nelson as best man.

For her wedding the bride wore a lovely beige suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. She is a graduate of High School at Coffeeville and of Grenada General Hospital, School of Nurses. Only recently she passed the State Board examination and is now an R. N.

The groom, a graduate of the High School at Garville, is now located at Camp McCain. After a honeymoon spent at the groom's parents home they will reside in Grenad.

The war must be getting serious indeed, for Cpl. Andrew D. Whitaker spent about five days at the air base last week.

Will Enderlin, who is a patient at the U. S. Vets Hospital at Outwood Ky., is home for ten days.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. James, of Arrington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Lt. Donald F. Tomlinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. H. T. Tomlinson, former residents of Missoula and now living in San Diego, Calif. The wedding will take place the latter part of May.

Miss James is a niece of Mrs. E. L. Boteler, of Grenada, and has visited here often.

R. E. "Gene" Christopher Seeks Beat 1 Supervisorship

The Beat One supervisors race was further complicated this week when Mr. R. E. Christopher, commonly called "Gene", who is a well-known and respected citizen of this supervisor's beat authorized that his name be placed alongside those of Prich Horton and Bert Smith.

He is going to run a fair, square race, and propose to go the limit in getting his message and his ideas to the soverign voters of this, the largest and most wealthy beat in Grenada County.

He made a most credible showing four years ago when he was aspiring to this office, certainly enough encouragement, supplemented by encouragement from those who did not support him last time, to warrant him in being optimistic about his nomination.

He is too well known by the citizenship of this community for us to seek to dwell upon his qualifications and with this short introduction, we turn Gene over to the people of Beat One who always give fair and conscientious consideration to the choice between men aspiring to serve them in responsible positions.

Up to and including 5:30 p. m. Sunday, May 2, 1943, Grenada has not had TWO fires at the SAME time.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Lt. Lawrence E. Allison Receives His "Wings"

Second Lieutenant Lawrence Elvin Allison, of Grenada, was graduated on April 29 from the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying School at Napier Field, Dothan, Alabama, it has been announced by the Public Relations Office.

The son of L. L. Allison, Fairfield Avenue, Grenada, Lt. Allison received his B. S. Degree at Mississippi State College May 25, 1942 and entered the armed service under a reserve commission June 11, 1942. He transferred to the Army Air Forces and completed primary and basic flying training before entering the Advanced Flying School at Napier Field, Colonel James L. Daniel, Commanding Officer, presided at commencement ceremonies in the Post Chapel and presented the silver pilot's wings and diploma to Lt. Allison.

Montgomery County Singing Convention To Meet May 9th

The regular Montgomery County Singing Convention will meet at Alva school building next Sunday, May 9th. All singers and those that want to hear real singing, come out and be with us in our convention. We are expecting singers from all parts of the state and adjoining states to be with us, and many good quartetts.

The Montgomery County convention is one of the oldest and biggest conventions in the state, and has been noted for its great attendance and good singing. Due to the food rationing and scarcity of some foods, every one is asked to bring a small basket of dinner with them.

Jimmie E. Dalton.

At the present time Horn and Greenfield face a week-end of idleness and sin, and it hoped that many folks will rush in orders for job printing and thus help save sinners to salvation.

I saw a pretty pair of legs walk by, but did not have time to see further.

No Bomber For Grenada

With the sale of E Bonds in the county failing to reach the coveted goal of $175,000.00 by over $41,000.00, Grenada County has lost its chance of naming a bomber. $133,782.00 worth of E bonds were sold in this county up to May 4. The sale started April 5.

Greasy From Ear To Ear

We are told that in springtime a young man's fancy turns to poetry and love. Some of us who have passed that stage let our memories wander back to the old black pot full of green corn boiling on the old wood burner.

THE AROMA WOULD TEMPT US

We could hardly wait until dinner to get a few ears on our plate and sprinkle with salt and pepper with a good layer of butter. We'd pitch in and start drawing the ears thru our mouth and after the third ear was disposed of the butter would drip from our ears.

THE AROMA OF KINGS

The pot that gave out the finest aroma was the green cabbage pot steaming away full of green cabbage and a pod of red pepper. The fragrance of this is sweeter to a hungry man than a bush of honey suckles.

THE NATIONAL BABY

Old auntie would take the third pot of new IRISH POTATOES and pull the big old turkey pan from the oven with steaming corn bread and go out to the rock walled well and pull up a gallon of cold buttermilk that had been down there cooling off since yesterday afternoon.

To sum everything up in a nut shell, it's the simple things in life that seem to give us the most satisfaction. From all indications we will have OODLES and OODLES of NEW IRISH POTATOES, GREEN CORN, GREEN CABBAGE and GOOD MEAL. Let's all have a pleasant week end by shopping with VOLLIE and be JOLLIE.

Butch McKnight is pleading with owners of homestead property to come in before June 1st, and make their application. Unless application is made by then, you will not have the benefits of homestead exemption. These applications must be made EVERY year.

Sadie Walthall, for 27 years the first grade teacher in the colored school, died Wednesday morning. Her superiors state that she was the soul of honor, was always faithful to her duties, and she gave her very best always to the small pupils in her charge.

See where Frank Gerard, Jr., has blossomed forth with the bars of a Second Lieutenant, taking the first step in what I hope to be a long ladder.

Lawyer Milton Williams, of Memphis, recently left his tracks on our cash books, also left some kind words in our office.

What with the black market, the preachers are likely to have a chicken-less summer.

Seriously, when you buy MORE than your share of rationed goods, YOU take away from some other person or persons his or their legitimate share of essential food.

A lot of folks have taken away so much whiskey from the market that a po' man can hardly find enouzh to get drunk on Saturday nights.

Aint they sweet.

Warning to our boys in the armed services: you had better get you an Australian wife, a New Guinea hen, (or rather, pullet), an Esquimo, a North Africaness, anyway get a wife wherever you are, because all of the girls here in Grenada will soon be grabbed up by soldiers and airmen in this vicinity.

But the soldiers are sorry (?) to put off the O. D. Uniforms and put on the kaki (euphonic spelling).

The prospective baby crop is very large, but try to do something about it!!

We added to the list of soldiers receiving the GOW the name of Pvt. Jas. B. Lott, Ft. Bliss, Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lott. Allen, himself renewed although his subscription was not out until August. That's a man with faith.

Hope Cousin Robert McLean, Sr. has got all right again.

It is surprising how many old married men want to know how you can tell a lady of the evening from any other lady.

Mrs. C. A. Shackleford, of Cascilla, free state, has been added to the list recently.

And still the candidates come!! It is unlikely that we will ever have to draft anyone for public office. There are too many patriots in the community.

If all reports are true, there is a regular mess in Washington. I think the President himself said substantially that all of the patriotism was outside the Capitol City.

Never, never get in the habit of taking a nap after dinner (lunch). It is an insidious habit.

S. C. Hardiman, one of Grenada county's substantial colored citizens renewed Saturday.

After the war these defense schools, where young people are taught to work with their hands, should not be abandoned. A man who is skillful with his hands occupies the safest place in life.

Francis Hill and William Winter, both now at Ole Miss, will shortly take off their civvies and put on the uniform of the United States.

Billy Semmes says that this world war is the greatest event in the history of the world and that he would not miss it under any circumstances. I am looking for Billy to go much higher, but, if he does not, he has the genuine patriotic spirit anyway, and that's what counts.

I think it is marvelous how the two large dairies and the smaller ones take care of the greatly increased demand here in this area. All of them are doing fine jobs of production and delivery.

The railroads, too, are doing fine jobs. I made a very long trip—for myself—600 miles recently, and had a seat all the way.

Our board of supervisors is in "setting" this week.

JOURNALISTIC TRENDS, PAST AND PRESENT

Hope you don't mind the liberrie I took with your paper, as per enclosed clipping, taken from a roll of your papers sent to me by my son while he was at Camp McCain.

I thought my old editor (I'm an ex) would enjoy the yarn, and evidently he felt his readers would, so he ran it.

I think you have one of the most original columns of that sort I have seen in any newspaper, and I read every item in the dozen or so copies I had, although I did wonder how you got away with some of the more pungent items.

The article follows.

A man can never quite get rid of the smell of printer's ink. It is also, to use a mild term, a roundabout way to introduce a bit of an oddity in the newspaper field. Your old newspaper man never loses his interest in newspapers. That is why, on a recent trip to the middle west, I regaled myself with some of the better known newspapers of the country, such as the Cleveland Plain Dealer, for one, and some of the Detroit papers.

A MISSISSIPPI SHEET

They run pretty much of a pattern out there, and all are quite metropolitan in character. Then came the discovery. The son I was meeting, knowing of my interest in newspapers, dumped into my lap a number of copies of the "Grenada County Weekly," a Mississippi paper. Since I got home, I've been looking them over, and the material I found therein is too good to keep for myself.

This weekly sheet hasn't a date line in it. It's purely local, conducted apparently, by one man and his wife. The man, serving as editor, has a salty, rich humor that is unique, to say the least. It's too good to keep to myself.

A column of "Seen, Heard and Told" by the editor, is one of the most priceless bits of humor that I have yet seen in any newspaper. When I read the first issue, I thought at once of the "Bingville Bugle," in the Boston Sunday Post of other days, but as I looked over one issue after another, I began to enjoy it, and, even though a stranger to the place, and never having seen it, I perused avidly every copy that I brought back with me.

* * * *

Politics is (are) picking up in Beat Three with two contestants for supervisor already in the field.

Oh, me.

No sardines today, or any day this week.

Politician D. F. Hankins, of Route 3 has united with our happy family. He has lots of sense.

Sam Mims has gone to drinking soft drinks, which are going to rust his intestines.

As to that "Beat Three" in the first paragraph above, I gather that this is what we call "wards" in our own city and all over the state.

The editor seems to have a fondness for the expression, "ladies of the evening.' Judging from his frequent use of it.

Political advertisements (and the money to pay for them,) seem to be a headache in any part of the country, as witness this:

"Well, I see where our old friend, Mr. Lester Franklin has announced for governor. He sent me a four-page legal size announcement, but no cash money, so I am using the back side of his paper in writing this crap."

Still on the subject of politics, I doubt if anyone in the northern part of this great country ever saw a legal notice like the following, quoted verbatim:

NOTICE

State of Mississippi,
Grenada County.

Personally appeared before me the undersigned authority in and for said County and State, L. C. Howard, who makes oath that in the event that he is elected Sheriff of Grenada County that he has deposited in the Bank the sum of One Thousand Dollars which he agrees to surrender to some charitable institution or agency in the event THAT ANY CITIZEN CAN PROVE THAT HE TAKES ONE DRINK OF INTORICATING LIQUOR while serving in such capacity and further that he will surrender the office.

Witness my hand this 20th day of February, A. D. 1943.

L. C. HOWARD.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 20th day of February, A. D. 1943.

J. P. Pressgrove,
Chancery Clerk.

(SEAL) 2-25,-12w.

Candidates for public office sort of get on the ballot in a coy and modest manner, as witnesses this in introduction to a candidate:

The pot is just "billing" over in Beat Three. Our announcement column is growing by leaps and bounds.

One of Will's friends authorized the Grenada County Weekly to place the name of Will Hendricks in the column where those seeking the important post of supervisors of that district are placed.

Will is comparatively speaking a young man. He has lived the best part of his life in that beat.. and that was" . . . . etc.

Errors in advertisements are easily taken care of. Here for instance, in one section of the March 11 issue, occurs this item:

"Well, I guess the war will soon be over, Roy Doak has an ad this week and next."

In the very next section of the same issue, the editor remarks:

"In printing Doak's ad, we forgot to put his slogan 'Here since 1867' on it."

On the editorial page of one issue, the editor takes a sober look at the conditions in a certain nearby prison which had a bad record for escaped convicts, but in his own private column, he has this juicy tidbit:

I hear that some of the convicts interrupted a poker party in the home of some big shot swamp planter near Jonestown, took all the money, removed the britches and took over the big car, also cut the telephone lines. One player, it was told, crawled out the window, but to fall into the hands of other convicts outside, who admonished him severely about deserting his companions, then took the money, britches and watch, and threw him bodily back into the house thru the window. I hope none of our former Grenada boys were mixed up in this poker party, because it is against the law to gamble in Mississippi.

And so it goes. There are two full columns of the stuff of which the above is a sample. It seems to pay, for he runs an eight-page paper, with a good deal of advertising matter, which the daily, a sober, four-sheet affair, tries to cover local and foreign news and makes pretty tough going of it.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This appeared in the Lowell Sunday Telegram, a section of the Boston Sunday Post on April 18, 1943.

THE HOME FRONT

SPEARHEAD EDITION OF WAR INFORMATION

Exactly a year ago, May 5, came sugar rationing. Then a novelty, it touched off the now familiar barrage of OPA food restriction orders which have changed the eating and shopping habits of us all. Coffee followed sugar, and it's now announced that rationing has reduced coffee consumption by a third.

The latest food ration order dealt with meat, and red meats go under price ceilings May 17. OPA expects this move to make black market in meat unprofitable. Also, the order is designed to bring meat prices down to what we paid around the first of the year.

COAL MINER TROUBLE

The biggest industrial story in the South last week was the coal mine trouble in the Birmingham district. Many of the miners charged that the prices of the things they buy have gone up faster than their wages.

OPA declared its surveys of living costs do not support this argument, and that wage increases, if granted, would merely lead to even high prices. OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown ordered OPA inspector to determine the actual prices prevailing on staple foods in mining districts.

BUY COAL NOW

Meantime, folks who'll be depending on coal to heat their homes next winter are again being urged to lay in supplies this spring.

ODT took its first step Friday in organizing a Southern farm vehicle program to eliminate unnecessary trips. State committees will be formed to carry it out in the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

HIGH SCHOOL JOB HELP

Before the end of this month, Southern high schools will graduate thousands of youngsters, and most will soon find their way into the armed forces or into war production.

To help each one of them determine his, or her proper place in the war effort, all will be asked to fill out little green cards detailing their job experience. These cards will go to the War Department, the War Manpower Commission and other agencies which can help steer them into the right posts for the duration.

TIRE RULES RELAXED

From Washington, came a warning against undue outbursts of optimism over the availability of gas and tires, but there were some relaxation. Anyone can have tires recapped now, and any grade of new tires are available to the few drivers who can qualify and whose rations permit them to drive more than 240 miles a month. Formerly, grade one casings were reserved for those with rations of 560 miles a month.

A CRIMP IN SHRIMP

Reports from the Eastern and Gulf Coast sections look as though the wartime shortage of fishermen may put a crimp in the use of shrimp. They are canning 20 percent less now than they did a year ago . . . And don't expect to see a return of tuna fish salad sandwiches on the soda fountain menu right away. Last year, the government wasn't buying any tuna. Now the armed services and Lease Lend are using more than half the tuna catch.

National food rationing brought restaurants new customers, and cafes, througed with men in uniforms, have been raising prices. So this week, the Southern OPA offices slapped ceiling on the cost of food served in all eating establishments. Ceilings apply also to drinks served with meals.

And at least along the Florida east coast, soldiers are being discouraged from eating in civilian restaurants wher they can eat at Army camps.

NEW RATION BOOK

We won't have to stand in line for Ration Book No. 4. Both the application blanks and the book itself will be delivered by the postman. The new book will be the same size as the ones we have now.

And don't get the jitters, Book No. 3 merely replaces the old. It contains no rationing surprises.

MORE COFFEE?

Coffee prospects are encouranging says OPA. Coffee rations might even be increased one of these days, but that No. 23 stamp which became good Monday will bring only one pound until the end of May.

OPA has moved to protect that good old Southern dish of fried chicken from black marketeers. Several poultry dealers have been cited for violations of poultry price ceilings—a warning to others not to run afoul of fowl restrictions.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for May 9

PETER AND JOHN LEADERS IN THE EARLY CHURCH

LESSON TEXT—Acts 3:37-41; 3:1-8; 4:13; 18-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marveled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.—Acts 4:13.

Does the Church have a message for our day? Sometimes one wonders a bit, but a little thought indicates that if it does not, it is not because Christianity has failed, but because Christian people have failed to declare the eternal and powerful truth of God. The primary responsibility for any such failure must rest upon the leaders of the Church.

It is instructive to see the qualities which made the leaders of the early Church effective for the Lord. In our lesson we find Peter and John doing three things.

I. Declaring God's Word (Acts 2: 37-41).

Peter had just finished the first sermon preached in the Church, which was delivered at Pentecost. The declaration of God's truth in the power of the Holy Spirit brought conviction of sin. It always does, although the outward indication of its working may not be as marked as it was on that day. Three thousand souls were under conviction and asking what to do to be saved.

What an opportunity for the preacher and his fellow worker, John. How did they meet it? By faithfully declaring the need of repentance and faith, and then of fellowship with others in the Church.

One mark of a real leader for God will always be that he preaches and teaches the message of God without adulteration, without modification, and with plainness and simplicity.

The kind of leadership which is often magnified in the Church today and which is largely made up of personal magnetism, "pep" and fast talk, is not real leadership at all. Test your leaders by their faithful and intelligent declaration of God's Word.

II. Conveying God's Power (Acts 3:1-8).

"Channels only"—that is the function of the worker for Christ, the leader in His Church. As Mary Maxwell well put it:

> Channels only, blessed Master,
> But with all Thy wondrous power
> Flowing through us, Thou canst use us
> Every day and every hour.

Silver and gold was a scarce commodity with Peter and John, as it has been with many, yes most, of God's servants through the centuries. But they did have the blessed privilege of being channels through which the healing, cleansing, redeeming power of God could flow—and that was infinitely better.

The lame man had long since given up hope of anything better than the few coins he could beg at the temple gate. He was like many in our hard and practical age who see only the values that money can give, and thus miss the real blessing of God.

God has for men today, as He had for this beggar, that which is far better than gold—deliverance from sin and liberation from the limitations of spirit which make them content with the paltry alms of men.

Peter and John were ready to be used of God because they were men who were not too busy to pray (v. 1). Knowing the compassion of God they sought out the one in need, and by faith put the unlimited power of God to work on his behalf.

God healed this man's body, but what is more important, He healed his spirit (v. 8). We need that kind of healing for the weak-kneed, lame-ankled, spirit-darkened individuals in our communities and our churches. We will have it only as our leaders are men and women who are cleansed—ready to be channels for the conveying of God's power to a needy world.

III. Doing God's Will (Acts 4:13, 18-21).

The way of life of God's leaders is not an easy one, but it is a simple one. They do God's will—nothing less, nothing more, and nothing else. What could be more delightful?

Peter and John had spoken the truth and declared salvation to be only in the name of Jesus (v. 12). Certain easy talkers within the Church who tell us that we must not be narrow but broad enough to see salvation in all religions, had better read that verse again.

Because they had preached Christ, and for no other reason, they were imprisoned, then released on condition that they would not mention Him again. What a splendid opportunity for a smooth and comfortable compromise! They could preach but just leave out Christ. Did they do it? No! (vv. 19, 20).

Obedience to God was paramount with them, and it must be with every genuinely Christian leader in the Church. Nothing else will do, nor will it have the blessing and approval of God.

1 CENTER END PIECE

ANY pretty flowered print may be combined with the side strips of sheets that are good after the center part has worn out. A good section may be cut from the center bottom too. The diagram at the left gives all the dimensions you need for making a spread for a double bed from the good parts of three old sheets put together with six-inch strips flowered cotton material of about the same weight.

Here, the figured goods is in a pink and white pattern that is especially effective with the white muslin. It is also used to trim the curtains made from old sheets. Another interesting color note is the mats of the pink and white material used for the row of framed photographs over the bed. It also edges the full white lamp shades.

Pilgrimage to Mecca

Every true Mohammedan is expected to make at least one pilgrimage to Mecca, the holiest city of the Moslem world. He may fulfill this duty by visiting a less sacred shrine a required number of times. For instance, seven journeys to Kairouan in Tunisia are equivalent to one to Mecca.

JUST JESTING

Presale

Two married men were discussing their joys and sorrows.

"My wife," said one, "is very poetic. She gets up at sunrise and says 'Lo, the morn!'"

"Huh!" said the other, sadly, "Mine says 'Move the lawn!'"

Her Whereabouts

"Well, I'm all right. I've got the best mother-in-law in the country."

"Yes, it makes a difference having her in the country."

Heard about the man who had been paying his wife hush money for a year? She was learning the piano.

Common Thing

"People should marry their opposites."

"Most people are convinced they did."

Small girl just home from Sunday school: "Mummy, we had a Bible lesson this morning, and teacher told us all about the ten commandos."

ASK ME ANOTHER?

A quiz with answers offering information on various subjects

The Questions

1. The littoral of a country is its what?

9. Yes. France was the scene of most of these affairs in the Middle ages. There are authentic records of trials that no writer in fiction would dare to present.
10. Battleships are named after states; cruisers after cities; destroyers after naval heroes; submarines after fish; the new carriers after famous battles.

Night Fliers Owe Much To the Soup-Fin Shark

The soup-fin shark used to be a pest, a spoiler of nets. The Chinese used his dried fins for soup; hence the name, while his carcass was used for fertilizer.

Now he has become the greatest source of vitamin A, key to successful night flying.

When Hitler marched into Norway a large part of America's Vitamin A supply of cod-liver oil was cut off. About the same time RAF pilots discovered that nightly doses of vitamin A reduced night blindness.

The demand for the vitamin had drug companies searching frantically for new sources. A San Francisco fish broker is credited with starting a West coast fishing boom. He tried the worthless shark, and tests showed that the liver was a hundred times richer in vitamin A than cod-liver.

Household Hints

An old pair of curling irons makes an excellent gripper to use in dyeing garments. You can grip the material firmly and swish it about in the dye bath and it will not slip off as it sometimes does when a stick or something of that sort is used.

To remove a stain left by adhesive tape, apply kerosene, then wash the spot with warm suds.

Mixed with salt, vinegar will clean discolored copper, brass and silver, and remove ink stains from the fingers. Diluted with water, it will clean gilt picture frames.

Worn bath towels may be cut in squares or circles for washcloths. Either crochet an edge around them or bind with washable cotton tape.

Glass fiber, which has a tensile strength greater than steel, loses at least 25 per cent of this strength when there is a trace of corrosion on its surface produced by the touch of a finger.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Chewing gum and rubber tires have something in common. They both are the products of latex-bearing trees. The chicle latex from which chewing gum is made, has a high resin and low rubber content. Rubber latex has the reverse characteristics. Chicle and Castilloa rubber trees are found in much the same areas in Central America.

Synthetic rubber tractor tires have been under tests by B.F. Goodrich engineers for close to a year. When synthetic rubber becomes available in sufficient quantities, farmers may expect such tires on their tractors.

A Russian rubber-bearing plant is now being successfully grown in the United States. Its value in the American rubber program, however, is still undetermined.

Tire recapping has proved its wartime value. But the recapping should be done before the tread rubber of the tire is completely worn.

U. S. Pledges Bombs to Japan's Heart; Allies Break Axis Mountain Defenses As Drive for Tunis and Bizerte Speeds; Russ-Nazis Locked in Caucasus Battle

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

American arms, ammunition and equipment were a potent factor in stepping up the fighting strength of French armies aiding the Allied cause in the Tunisian campaign. Above, Gen. Henri Giraud (center), French high commissioner of North Africa, is seen inspecting U. S. war equipment sent for French army use.

VENGEANCE:

For Jap Executions

Stern punishment for the Jap military leaders responsible for the execution of American fliers captured after last year's raid on Tokyo was promised by President Roosevelt, who said the United States would "hold personally and officially responsible" all those who participated in these crimes and bring them to justice.

That the Japs' barbarity was a confession of their vulnerability to air attack was clear. This was underscored by Tokyo broadcasts threatening to execute American fliers captured on future raids over Japan.

The reply to such threats was given by Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the air forces, who told his fliers:

"Let your answer to their treatment of your comrades be the destruction of the Japanese air force, their lines of communication, and the production centers which offer them the opportunity to continue such atrocities."

To this Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the Tokyo raid a year ago added: "Soon our bombers will be there again, striking at the heart of Japan until the empire crumbles and they beg for mercy."

RUBBER:

Showdown on Oil Use

Rubber continued to be a controversial subject as William M. Jeffers, rubber director, came to grips with Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, and Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator, in a dispute over the use of gasoline in the synthetic production program.

Patterson, supported by Ickes, charged in a statement that Jeffers was weakening American air strength against the Axis by reducing combat supplies of high octane gas for the benefit of the civilian synthetic rubber manufacturing schedule.

Still at odds with Elmer Davis, OWI director, over publicity releases on the rubber program, Jeffers briskly took on his two new opponents declaring that their charges called for investigation to bring out the true facts to the public.

PACIFIC:

U. S. Fliers Busy

From the Aleutians to New Guinea, American airmen continued their assaults on Jap airfields, shipping and ground installations.

Liberators, Mitchells, Lightnings and Warhawks made 15 raids on the enemy at Kiska, carrying the total of forays on this menacing Jap installation to more than 100 in the course of a single month.

In the Solomons, Yankee fliers battered Jap positions in four air raids, attacking Tonei harbor and Kieta and smashing at Kahili and Munda.

From Australia, Allied aircraft made 10 forays in a single day, destroying enemy planes and strafing Jap base installations and occupied villages. Rabaul and Ubili, New Britain, the Saidor area of New Guinea and Laga on Timor island were the principal targets.

TUNISIA:

Nazis Counter-Attack

Fighting stubbornly to delay the inevitable day of reckoning, Axis troops sought desperately to prevent the Allied armies from further narrowing their last hold in Tunisia.

On both the north and south fronts, German counter-attacks were followed by successful Allied thrusts that wrested mountainous terrain from the enemy and forced the Axis armies nearer to their last-stand positions.

In the north, the British First army pushed southeast after repelling major enemy assaults in the Medjez-el-Bab sector, destroying more than one-third of the Nazi tanks opposing them.

In the north, General Montgomery's British Eighth army made important gains in the strategic hill country north and west of Enfidaville which brought it closer to Tunis.

Meanwhile, bombers of the Allied tactical air force kept up constant attacks against the few remaining Axis-held airfields.

RUSSIA:

Caucasus Front Active

Continuing to employ "strive at any cost" tactics, German armies in the Caucasus kept up full-scale attacks against the Russians in the Kuban delta despite heavy losses and lack of success in the early stages.

Two objectives were included in the Nazi plans, military observers believed. One was to relieve Soviet pressure on the enemy's bridgehead at Novorossisk. The other was to build up the momentum of a drive that might be the prelude to a new Axis spring offensive.

As the fighting increased in intensity, the activity of the opposing air forces was stepped up. German communiques reported that the luftwaffe was straffing Red supply bases on the Black sea coast. Soviet communiques revealed that while Red airmen had broken up one enemy effort to ferry reinforcements across the Black sea to Novorossisk, the Germans had succeeded later in providing substantial reinforcements for their army in the Caucasus bridgehead.

POSTWAR FINANCE:

Congress Holds Reins

Voting to extend for two years the President's authority over the $2,000,000,000 currency stabilization fund, the house adopted an amendment designed to prevent the use of this money in the $5,000,000,000 international banking fund proposed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau for a postwar world bank.

The senate had previously withdrawn the President's power to devalue the dollar while approving continuance of his power of the stabilization fund.

In effect, the house amendment introduced by Representative Reed of Illinois gave congress control over the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and the proposed postwar banking fund. House leaders indicated that congress would provide funds for the latter, in the event it was set up.

More Eggs Per Hen, More Milk Per Cow, More Corn Per Acre

Agricultural Science Now Fully Mobilized

Science hitched to the plow is one of the main reasons for America's astonishing food productivity. Day by day the department of agriculture, in co-operation with state colleges of agriculture and experiment stations, is carrying the results of research into practical application on the nation's six million farms.

A task force, made up of some 9,000 county agents, home demonstration agents, 4-H club leaders and specialists takes the findings of science to the farmer. Practically every one of the country's 3,000 agricultural counties is served by a county agent of the agricultural extension service.

Food, food and still more food. That sums up the Food for Freedom program in 1943: 8 per cent more eggs, over 25 billion pounds of meat, 122 billion pounds of milk.

No technique making for more efficient farming, or scientific fact that will help increase the total food supply, is being overlooked. Even such a simple practice as giving a cow drinking water with the chill taken off of it on a cold winter's day can help boost milk production. The practice of milking three times a day instead of two, if generally followed and combined with feeding three times a day, for only a 90-day period, would increase production sufficiently to meet 1943 goals. In a recent feeding test with cows that had production records of around 9,300 pounds of milk a year, increases in the milk output as high as 23 per cent resulted from feeding more grain.

Systematic Tool Storage Very Important on Farm

W. C. Krueger, extension agricultural engineer at Rutgers university, believes that every farm should have a work space or room especially reserved for repairing and constructing farm equipment.

At least a corner in some building should be set aside for the systematic storage of tools, repair parts and supplies.

"The storage of new machinery, increased use of labor-saving devices to offset the scarcity of farm help and the inability of local service men and dealers to take care of all reconditioning and repair work makes it highly desirable for every farm to be as self-sufficient as possible in this respect," the engineer says.

There are enough tools on most farms to do the ordinary repair jobs provided all of the tools are systematically collected, put into good shape, arranged, stored, and handy to use, Krueger points out. A necessary item is a solid topped work bench 2 to 2½ feet wide and between 5 and 10 feet long fitted with a four-inch or larger machinist vise and a wood vise or clamp.

The wall space above the bench is ideal for hanging tools. For a well-equipped shop these should include twist drills; auger bits; assorted sizes of machine, drift and center punches; a carpenter's hammer and both a light and heavy ball-peen hammer; an assortment of wood chisels; wrecking and crowbars; an eight to 12-pound sledge; anvil or heavy rail section for forging and straightening; a set of adjustable socket and pipe wrenches; a size range of screw drivers, pliers, plier cutters and pincers; an electric soldering iron or pair of soldering bits; a good grinder, preferably motor driven; flat, triangle and round files of assorted sizes, together with oil and emery stones. Block and tackle for hoists, jacks and pipe rollers will also be found handy.

Recapping Available

Owners of passenger cars and commercial vehicles using tires smaller than 7.50 by 20 will now be able to get casings recapped with reclaimed rubber camel back without applying to local war price and rationing boards for certificates. However, recapping of commercial vehicle tires with truck-type camel back, which contains a large proportion of crude rubber, continues subject to present rationing restrictions.

Perhaps It's Best to Tell Other Side of Story First

"Yes," said the lawyer to the grocer, who had come to consult him, "undoubtedly you've got the best case that I've ever heard."

"Thanks," said his client, quickly grabbing his hat and making for the door.

"Here, what's the rush," asked the astonished lawyer. "Where are you going?"

"I'm going to settle this case out of court and that right away!" the other informed him.

"But I told you it's the best case I ever heard."

"Maybe so," said his client, "but not for me. I've told you the other fellow's story."

The gaily enameled unit insignia you see on a soldier's lapels and overseas cap are reproductions of his regimental shield displayed in the center of the eagle on his regimental flag. It's a part of U. S. Army tradition. Traditional, too, is the Army man's preference for Camel cigarettes. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) It's a gift from the folks back home, that always rates cheers. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

WHY PUT UP WITH CONSTIPATION?

If you suffer from that common form of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, dosing yourself with harsh cathartics and laxatives will give you only temporary relief.

However, adding KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to your regular diet and drinking plenty of water will not only get at the cause of such constipation, but will correct it.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a delicious breakfast cereal that, unlike medicinal purges, doesn't work chiefly on you—but works principally on the contents of your colon.

Try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, eat as directed, see if it doesn't help you, too!

Garner, Jr. and Wade Stokes Garner, Minors at its April, 1943 term, the undersigned guardian of said minors will on Monday, May 24, 1943 within legal hours at the Courthouse in Grenada in said County and State offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder, for cash, the following, as

(1.) That certain real property substantially described in that certain deed executed to R. H. Stokes by R. W. Sharp and wife dated March 19, 1912, recorded in Book GG page 573 et seq. of the Deed Records of said County, as Part of Lot 1 in Green Crowder's Survey, West Ward of Grenada in Grenada County, Mississippi, beginning 134½ feet east of southwest corner of said Lot 1, running east parallel with Harvey Street about 241 feet to the southeast corner of said Lot, thence north along the west boundaries of Main and Line Streets 92 feet, thence west parallel with the southern boundary of said Lot 241 feet more or less, thence south 92 feet to point of beinning, conveying and intending to convey that certain part above mentioned Lot 1 bounded on the north by Hughes property, on the east by Line and Main Streets, on the south by Harvey Street and on the west by the Owens property less and except 110 feet off of the west side thereof.

(2.) 110 feet off of the west side of said part of Lot 1, Green Crowder's Survey, West Ward of Grenada in Grenada County, Mississippi conveyed to said R. H. Stokes by said deed aforesaid.

Witness my signature this 27th day of April, 1943.

GEORGE M. GARNER,
Guardian.
